2. Program Description:
The Barton School of Business at Wichita State University is proposing a new, fully online Master of Human Resource Management (HRM) degree. This new HRM program will produce human resource specialists for the State of Kansas.

Human Resource (HR) professionals are responsible for the design and implementation of practices and policies relevant to employees. “Human resources managers plan, direct, and coordinate the administrative functions of an organization. They oversee the recruiting, interviewing, and hiring of new staff; consult with top executives on strategic planning; and serve as a link between an organization’s management and its employees” (¶1).¹ Because the workplace demands are fast changing, so are the needs for new, effective HR practices to address the needs of the new workforce.

In the program, students will take a series of classes focusing on key HRM areas, including employee relations, staffing, training, legal environment, workplace policies, and rewards. The program is designed for practicing HR professionals who wish to advance in the profession as well as for managers with HR responsibilities.

3. Demand/Need for the Program:
The Bureau of Labor Statistics’ Occupational Outlook Handbook² predicts that the number of jobs for HR Managers is expected to grow by 9% (faster than average) between 2014 and 2024. Consistent with this growth, an Education Advisory Board report³ recently found that there is an increasing nationwide demand for master’s degree programs in Human Resource Management, particularly online programs.

Based on this information, the WSU Management Department surveyed the Kansas chapters of the Society for Human Resource Management. Of the 110 survey respondents, 54 indicated they would be interested in enrolling in an online MHRM program offered by WSU, and 38 indicated they would be interested in enrolling by 2022.

4. Locational Advantage:
Wichita, the most populated city in Kansas, and the surrounding metropolitan area contain many businesses of various sizes, all potential employers for the Master of Human Resource Management (MHRM) graduates. Because of these businesses, Wichita will provide the MHRM program with a locational advantage compared to a program located in a region with fewer businesses.

The Barton School of Business is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB), the premier business college accrediting agency. Because of its AACSB accreditation, the Barton School will provide the MHRM program with an advantage over a program located in a non-business college, or in a business college that is not AACSB-accredited. This program will be reviewed by AACSB in 2023 as part of the overall assessment of the Barton School of Business’s maintenance of accreditation review, a distinct advantage to ensure program rigor and quality.

The WSU Management Department contains several prolific research faculty, award-winning instructors (in both online and face-to-face teaching formats), and administrators with experience at managing multiple degree programs (including an online, undergraduate HRM program).

5. Comparative Advantage

The Regents System program that is closest to the proposed MHRM program is Fort Hays State University’s online Master of Professional Studies (MPS) degree program with an HRM concentration. Additionally, Pittsburg State University’s online Master of Science degree in Human Resource Development is offered by their Department of Technology and Workforce Learning. The proposed WSU MHRM program will be housed in a business college, accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, and aligned with the Society for Human Resource Management competencies.

Other similar Regents Systems programs include online and traditional Master of Business Administration (MBA) programs. All six Regents’ universities offer an MBA program; KU and FHSU have concentrations in HRM. WSU’s MBA program currently contains no required or elective HRM courses.

As for similar online programs in the country, according to the Society for Human Resource Management website, there are 58 online master-level programs similar to the proposed MHRM program. Excluding the FHSU and PSU programs listed above, the closest program is at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview, Texas. There are no online or traditional (i.e., face-to-face) MHRM programs in the states that border Kansas. Locally, Friends University’s MBA program has an online concentration option in HRM.

6. Curriculum

The program consists of 30 semester credit hours. Twenty-four of the hours are composed of eight required courses; the remaining six hours are composed of elective courses with the student’s career interests in mind. If a student is more interested in research, he or she may choose up to six semester credit hours of research in lieu of the same number of semester credit hours of elective courses.

Required Human Resource Management Courses – 24 semester credit hours (all required courses are 3 semester credit hours). Five courses have yet to have course codes assigned to them and are listed as TBD (to be determined) below.

MGMT 885 Advanced Strategic Management 3 hours
HRM 665 Employment Law 3 hours
(TBD) Analytics 3 hours
MGMT 862 Organizational Behavior 3 hours
(TBD) Rewards 3 hours
(TBD) Selection 3 hours
7. Faculty Profile

Existing Barton School faculty members will teach, coordinate the curriculum, advise students, schedule classes, and administer the program. The program faculty consist of the MHRM Program Director, core faculty, and supplemental faculty. The director will be a senior faculty member from the Human Resource Management Department. All faculty members possess doctoral degrees in their academic discipline.

Faculty members are representative of the following academic disciplines: Human Resource Management, Business Management, Economics, Business Law, Marketing, Decision Sciences, Management Information Systems, and International Business.

8. Student Profile

Students interested in enrolling in this program may be full-time employees whose job involves some HRM-related tasks, employees who are interested in becoming HR managers, and/or any person interested in improving their HR knowledge and skill set, including recent baccalaureate graduates.

Students interested in this major typically exhibit the following characteristics: strong communication skills, solid ethics, critical thinking skills, organizational skills, conflict-management skills, self-motivation, and structured problem-solving.

9. Academic Support

The WSU Office of Online Learning and the WSU Office of Instructional Design & Access will provide teaching and technical support for the program. The Barton School Dean, Associate Deans, and Management Department Chair will provide administrative support for the program; a senior HRM faculty member will serve as the program director.

Current WSU Barton School of Business infrastructure is sufficient to support the new Human Resource Management program.

10. Facilities and Equipment

The Barton School of Business anticipates that the facilities are adequate to support the proposed program. The program will leverage WSU’s existing computer hardware, software, services, and network. No additional classrooms will be required, and no new faculty or administrative offices will be needed.

11. Program Review, Assessment, Accreditation

Like all WSU degree programs, this program will be reviewed and evaluated according to Kansas Board of Regents’ program review requirements. The Barton School Dean and Faculty are committed to ensuring that the program will be of rigor and high quality.

In support of this commitment, a student learning assessment process will be created and implemented. The program director and faculty, the Management Department Chair, and Barton School Administrators will conduct regular assessments.

Furthermore, the program has been designed to align with the competencies of the Society for Human Resource Management and with the AACSB graduate program guidelines. The program will be reviewed by AACSB in 2023 as part of the overall assessment of the Barton School of Business’s maintenance of accreditation review.

Additionally, the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) maintains a list of HRM programs that are aligned with the SHRM competencies. WSU is committed to having the MHRM program stay in alignment with the SHRM competences as the competencies change. The Program Director will ensure that the program remains aligned.

12. Costs/Financing

No new General Use resources are needed for this Master of Human Resource Management degree.

Funds generated from online and business school course fees will support this program. The Barton School of Business receives funds from a $35 per semester credit hour (sch) undergraduate program fee, and a $50 per sch graduate program fee. Additional funds come from a $94.50 per sch online course fee.

These funds will be used to compensate the program director ($3,600/year, with fringe), new clinical assistant professor ($108,000/year with fringe), and marketing expenses ($5,000/year). No Graduate Assistants are required for this program.

Additional and existing current Barton School faculty staffing is sufficient to develop, offer, and administer the MHRM program. The current staffing in the WSU Online Learning and Instructional Design & Access Offices are sufficient to provide teaching and technical support.

PROPOSAL FOR A NEW DEGREE PROGRAM

2. Program Identification:

   Program Title:  Graduate Nursing Program

   Degree to be Offered:  Master of Science in Nursing (MSN)

   Responsible Department or Unit:  Department of Nursing

   CIP Code:  51.3801  Proposed Implementation Date: Fall 2019

   Total Number of Semester Credit Hours for the Degree:  32

B. Justification and Program Demand

1. Justification:

   In the space below, provide a brief description of the program and indicate why this program is important to your institution and to the state of Kansas.

   The Emporia State University Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree will provide three track options to meet both market demands, and specific professional goals of graduate students as served by Emporia State University. The three online options will include: Healthcare Management, Nursing Education, and a blended Healthcare Management/Education option. The demands for BSN nurses, nurse managers, and nurse educators are expected to increase in the future; the demand for graduate prepared nurses with the skills necessary to educate future nurses and manage daily operations in healthcare settings today and in the future will continue to be quite high (AACN, 2017; KDHE, 2010; HRSA, 2014/2017; NCSBN, 2018). Over 43% of nurses surveyed in Kansas reported they planned to advance their education at the master's degree level (Teel, Shen, & Peltzer, 2014; Shen, Peltzer, Teel, & Pierce, 2015). The Kansas State Board of Nursing reported in 2017 that fewer than 6% of licensed nurses in Kansas have a graduate degree. ESU's BSN graduates and local health care organizations, specifically Newman Regional Health, have asked ESU to provide a master's option. Currently there is no MSN program available in the area to prepare first-line nurse/healthcare managers for rural critical access hospitals, a unique skill set available to BSN graduates through one track of this program. The literature provides ample evidence of demand for nurse educators (IOM, 2011; AACN, 2015; NLN, 2017), with rural areas such as those served by Emporia State University presenting a particular need addressed by this program's second track. Finally, the program will provide a unique blended healthcare management/education track for BSN-prepared nurses whose career aspirations include both nursing management and nursing education.
2. Demand: Select one of the two options for indicating student demand:

Option A. Survey of Student Interest
Number of surveys administered: .................. 170
Number of completed surveys returned: .......... 135
Percentage of students interested in program: ... 82%

Option B. Market Analysis
Attach a one-page analysis that reflects trends, changing student demographics, curricular growth patterns, etc., to forecast student demand for this program.

3. Demand: Projected Enrollment for the Initial Three Years of the Program
Indicate how many students/credit hours are projected in the charts below.

4. Demand: Employment

In the space below, provide a brief narrative of projected job openings for graduates of this program. This may include such sources as the Kansas labor market information from the KS Department of Labor and/or the US Department of Labor.

The demand for master's prepared nurses in the ESU market area is strong and consistent with Kansas and national statistics. Only 6%-9% of registered nurses have master's degrees in rural settings (US Bureau of Labor Statistics, 2015). Recent surveys by AACN (2017); Teel, et al., (2014); and Nursing and Allied Professionals Workforce Survey (2015) conclude that recruitment of nurse managers and nursing faculty is a significant problem. Over 52% of respondents in the Nursing and Allied Professionals Workforce Survey (2015) reported difficulty in recruiting nurse managers, and AACN (2016) reported nationally over 9,757 nurses annually were turned away from master's programs due to lack of nursing faculty.

The turnover rate for RNs in Kansas is 14% (KHA, 2017); the current vacancy rate for Kansas nurses in 2017 was reported as 6.3% (KHA, 2017). More master's-prepared nurse educators and nurse managers will be required in order to meet the market need of the nursing profession at the local, state, and national levels. As reported in a recent study (Teel, Shen, & Peltzer, 2014), only 13.7% of nurses in Kansas hold the MSN degree, which is inadequate to meet the demand.

In conclusion, there is a growing body of literature providing compelling evidence of a significant demand for more master's-prepared nurses to fulfill roles as nurse managers and nurse educators. The need in rural communities is even greater, as the majority of nurses at the BSN and MSN level are employed in urban settings. Rural health care facilities and rural nursing education programs both require masters-prepared nurses to meet the complex needs of today's healthcare consumer (IOM, 2011). Without nursing faculty to prepare nurses, and without nurse managers to manage healthcare teams and organizations, the consumer of healthcare is at significant risk for poor quality of care.

Please submit the following with this proposal:
B.2: One-Page Market Analysis (if you chose Option B)
C.2: One-Page Semester-By-Semester Degree Plan
E: Expenditures and Funding Sources (as needed)
The demand for nurses, nurse managers, and nurse educators is expected to increase in the future (AACN, 2017/2018; HRSA, 2014/2017; KDHE, 2010; NCSBN, 2018). The Health Resources and Service Administration (HRSA, 2010) projects Kansas will have a shortage of 1,950 RNs per 100,000 population in 2020, and the Institute of Medicine (IOM, 2011) is calling for 80% of RNs to be BSN-prepared by 2020 in order to meet the complex needs of patients. In addition, more master's-prepared nurse educators and nurse managers will be required in order to meet the market need of the nursing profession at the local, state, and national levels. As reported in a recent study (Teel, Shen, & Peltzer, 2014), only 13.7% of nurses in Kansas hold the MSN degree, which is inadequate to meet the demand.

More qualified nurse managers are essential for the survival of rural critical access hospitals. The demand for master's-prepared nurses in the ESU market area is strong, consistent with Kansas and national statistics. Only 6%-9% of registered nurses in rural settings nationally have master's degrees (US Bureau of Labor Statistics, 2015), and only 13.7% of nurses in Kansas report holding a master's degree (Teel, et al., 2014). The literature demonstrates the need for more nurse educators in order to train an adequate nursing workforce (HRSA, 2014/2017; AACN, 2017). Recent surveys by AACN (2017), Teel et al (2014), and Nursing and Allied Professionals Workforce Survey (2015) conclude that a significant shortage of nurse managers and nursing faculty exists. Over 52% of respondents in the Nursing and Allied Professionals Workforce Survey (2015) reported difficulty in recruitment of nurse managers, and AACN (2016) reported that 9757 nurses are turned away from master's-prepare nurses in Kansas (Teel, et al., 2014). The vacancy rate for Kansas nurses in 2017 was reported as 6.3% (KHA, 2017).

Congruent with the Kansas and national demand for master’s-prepared nurses, local health care organizations including Newman Regional Health have urged ESU to develop a master of science (MSN) degree option to prepare first-line nurse/healthcare managers for rural critical access hospitals (CAH). The skill set required to manage in a CAH will be provided through the healthcare management track of this program. In addition to healthcare managers, more nurse educators are needed due to the retirements of current faculty and the increased demand for enrollment (AACN, 2017; NACNEP, 2010). Rural America, including the geographic area served by Emporia State University, has a particular need for nurse educators such as those prepared through this program’s nursing education track. Lastly, the program will provide a unique blended healthcare management/nurse educator track.

The internal student market demand at ESU for the MSN program has been demonstrated through the senior exit interviews administered to nursing students at the time of graduation. Over the past five years, more than 82% of graduating students plan to continue their professional education. More specifically, over 90% surveyed plan to obtain a graduate degree or specialty certification in nursing. At least 50% of the students in each of the last three graduating classes at ESU indicated they would enroll in an MSN program at ESU if one were available.

In conclusion, there is a growing body of literature providing compelling evidence of a significant demand for master's-prepared nurses to fulfill roles as nurse managers and nurse educators. The need in rural communities is particularly acute, as the majority of nurses at the BSN and MSN level are employed in urban settings. Rural healthcare facilities and rural nursing education programs both require masters-prepared nurses to meet the complex needs of today's consumer of healthcare (AACN, 2017; IOM, 2011). Without nurse managers to manage healthcare teams and organizations, the consumer of healthcare is at significant risk for poor quality of care, and without nursing faculty to prepare nurses, Kansas and the nation will continue to have a nursing shortage. Evidence suggests a strong demand for the program among prospective students, and a strong need for graduates of the proposed program, especially in rural hospitals and nursing education programs.

Act on Proposed Amendments to the Naming of Academic Units Policy
Jean Redeker, VP, Academic Affairs

Summary
Board policy allows institutions to recommend to the Board and the Board Academic Affairs Committee the naming of an academic unit for an individual, individuals or business entity. The proposed policy revisions provide procedural guidance that is currently lacking, and the revisions mirror the Board's “Naming of Buildings” policy. Staff recommends approval.

Background
The Board’s policy on the Naming of Academic Units was recently reviewed and staff determined that adding procedural guidance to the policy would be beneficial. Revisions to the “Naming of Academic Units” policy are modeled after the Board’s “Naming of Buildings” policy, which is provided on the following page for reference.

Staff Recommendation
Staff recommends adoption of the proposed policy amendments set forth below:

9. NAMING OF ACADEMIC UNITS

Schools, Colleges, Institutes, Bureaus, Centers or other academic units shall be named for an individual, individuals or business entity by the Board upon the recommendation of the chief executive officer of the state university and the Board Academic Affairs Committee. No public communication of a proposed name shall be made until the name is presented for consideration to the open meeting of the Academic Affairs Committee.

The authority to name schools, colleges, institutes, bureaus, centers, or other academic units for an individual, individuals, or business entity is the province of the Board of Regents. The authority to rename or remove the name of any state university academic unit also resides in the Board. Any documentation used by any state university or affiliate corporation of any state university for fund raising purposes shall clearly state that proposed names are subject to Board action and shall reserve to the Board the right to remove any name bestowed upon an academic unit. Possible reasons for removal of a name include, but are not limited to, circumstances causing damage to the reputation of the university, change of law regarding naming authority, or the dissolution or merging of the academic unit.

a. Criteria

i. Academic units may be named for distinguished individuals who have made extraordinary contributions of a scholarly, professional, or public service nature related to the academic unit, or for major donors to the unit or the university.

ii. Before forwarding a name to the Board for consideration, the state university shall undertake a thorough degree of due diligence to avoid commercial influence or conflict of interest.

b. Process

The chief executive officer of the state university shall recommend an appropriate name to the Board for consideration. The university shall first present the name(s) for consideration in an open meeting of the Academic Affairs Committee.
At the time the Academic Affairs agenda item is submitted, the name shall not be included; however, the state university shall send the proposed nomination, statement and materials individually to Regents and the President and Chief Executive Officer at least four weeks before the state university sends its agenda material requests to the Board office for the Academic Affairs meeting at which the nomination is to be considered. No public communication of a proposed nomination shall be made until the name is presented for consideration at an open meeting of the Academic Affairs Committee.

Upon approval by the Academic Affairs Committee, the Board shall act on the nomination.

Comparable Policy
Proposed revisions to the “Naming of Academic Units” policy are modeled after the “Naming of Buildings” policy, which is provided below for reference.

12. NAMING OF BUILDINGS

a. Authority for Naming

The naming of any state university building is the province of the Board of Regents. The authority to rename or remove the name of any state university building also resides in the Board. Any documentation used by any state university or affiliate corporation of any state university for fund raising purposes shall clearly state that proposed names are subject to Board action, and shall reserve to the Board the right to remove any name bestowed upon a facility. Possible reasons for removal of a name include, but are not limited to, circumstances causing damage to the reputation of the university, change of law regarding naming authority, or if the building is razed or given over to a new use.

b. Criteria

i. Generally, buildings are named for distinguished individuals who have made extraordinary contributions of a scholarly, professional, or public service nature related to the university’s mission.

ii. In some cases, buildings may be named for major donors to the construction of the building.

iii. Before forwarding a name to the Board for consideration, the state university shall undertake a thorough degree of due diligence to avoid commercial influence or conflict of interest.

iv. Buildings will not be named for sitting presidents, chancellors or Board members.

c. Process

The chief executive officer of the state university shall recommend an appropriate name to the Board for consideration. At the time the agenda item is submitted, the name shall not be included; however, the state university shall send the proposed name and a brief narrative individually to Regents and the President and Chief Executive Officer of the Board at the same time the state university sends its agenda material requests to the Board office for the Board meeting at which the name is to be considered. No public communication of a proposed name shall be made until the name is presented for consideration at an open meeting of the Board.

Fort Hays State University's 2017 conference ranked third out of seven in total cost but had the lowest per capita expenditure.

From 2011, and 2013-2017, the average total expenses for the conferences was $23,176.

Excluding Kansas State's total expenses because they have had higher total attendance would bring the average total expenses for the remaining five conferences to $20,454.50.

Fort Hays State University's 2017 total expenses expenditure was $768.58 lower than the 2013-2017 average.
